The Tehuantepec Ship Canal Survey

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald writing on the 11 of June says

Captain Shufeldt who recently returned from the survey of the Tehuantepec route for an interoceanic canal left here this evening in company with the corps of officers who assisted him for Stamford Connecticut where he will devote their entire time to the completion of an elaborate report of the surveys made on the expedition The report which it is expected will be completed by the 1 of August next and making a volume of not less than 300 pages will include subjects upon the practicability of the route the geographical character of the country, its material resources for the construction of the works especially as it relates to wood and stone the natural history of the country, climatology, and the ability of the natives to perform the manual labor required in the construction of the canal Captain Shufeldt says the entire length of the canal will not exceed 100 miles, with a feeder of not less than 30 miles He thoroughly surveyed on the Gulf side the rivers Coatzacoalcos Uspanapa and Coachapa and the lagoons and harbors Salina Cruz on the Pacific side and got a very good map of summit level The greatest level will not exceed 800 feet with seventy locks On either side of the level for the construction of which there is plenty of stone in the country the depth of the canal according to the plan proposed, will be about 20 feet the width varying from 200 to 170 feet and the rough estimate of its entire cost will be about $100 000 000 Since the return of Captain Shufeldt he has called upon the President several times and has had extended conversations with him concerning the practicability of the route surveyed The Executive takes an active interest in the project and he is satisfied that the Darien survey is impracticable and if so there is now no doubt a through cut canal must be abandoned the route just surveyed by Captain Shufeldt is in the opinion of the President the best for a lock canal

Captain Shufeldt states that the people living in this part of Mexico are deeper in barbarism than they were fifteen years ago and that without the presence of American troops to guard the work as it progressed there would be no security for the amount invested He believes that it should be essentially an American enterprise rather to promote our commercial interests between the Western, Southwestern and Pacific Coast States than as an international scheme Upon the completion of his report it is understood that an expedition under his command will be fitted out to survey the Nicaragua route

Losses of the Late War

[From the Pall Mall Budget]

The German losses turn out, on a revision of the official lists to have been smaller than was at first believed The total loss in killed wounded and missing, amounts to 47 662 viz 2,107 officers and 15 224 men killed, 1 838 officers and 27,417 men wounded, and 16 officers and 2 000 men missing The gains of the war, on the other hand in trophies and prisoners were unusually large indeed so considerable as to be unique in history The Breslauer Zeitung with patriotic pride enumerates the long list which it compares with our paltry acquisitions in the Crimean, and those of the French in Italy By this account, the last three Prussian campaigns have been wonderfully prolific of such materials of victory, and present a strong contrast to former wars Thus, at the Alma we took two colors and two guns at Inkermann we lost three guns and at the storming of the Malakoff we captured one standard and thirty one gun The number of prisoners in the campaign did not exceed 6 000 The entire spoils of the French in 1859 consisted of three colors twenty six guns and 16 000 prisoners The Prussians on the other hand took at Dupel nineteen colors, 113 guns and 3 499 prisoners at Alsen 13 colors, 39 guns and 2 491 prisoners at Koniggratz, 7 colors 161 guns and 19 800 prisoners altogether in 1866 13 colors 208 guns and 49 000 prisoners The figures for the late war are more formidable still At Spicheren, Rauge Gravelotte, Vionville Mars La Hallu and Beaumont indeed trophies were taken But at Wissembourg 2 colors 1 gun and 600 prisoners were captured at Woerth 2 eagles, 31 guns 6 mitrailleuses and 4 000 prisoners at Beaumont 8 eagles and colors over 30 guns and 20 000 prisoners at Sedan, 400 guns and mitrailleuses and 180 000 prisoners with all their colors at Metz 56 eagles 600 guns and mitrailleuses and 170 000 prisoners Altogether exclusive of the capitulation of Paris, the late war has yielded over 120 eagles and colors 6 400 guns and 374 995 prisoners to which ought to be added 84 000 interned in Switzerland and 6 000 interned in Belgium The capitulation of Paris has added another 17,000 prisoners The number of trophies has not yet been accurately stated

ANOTHER VOICE FROM OHIO—The Cincinnati Enquirer (Dem) publishes a communication on the new departure in which it thus alludes to the resolutions In connection they are second only to those of the Hartford Convention, and the secession resolutions of the several Southern States when they severed themselves from the Democratic party, and sought speedy relief from threatened political heresies in an appeal to arms No reasonable person can fail to see the error of that step If we had remained steadfast and united and had adhered to the old landmarks, no civil war would have disturbed and reason, justice right and Democratic principles, would have soon triumphed over the threatened fanaticisms that appeared in the political horizon"

After carefully critizing the resolutions he closes as follows

Upon careful perusal of the doctrines of the 'new departure,' it will be found that they consist of the assumption of the death of the Democratic party, and that the Convention had rallied its surviving followers to a feast of consolation by its discovery of an appropriate burial place, with tombstone erection How appropriate the title

DEFENCES OF CONSTANTINOPLE—It is stated that the Turkish government is engaged in constructing, extensive works for the defence of the seat approaches to Constantinople About two hundred and twenty heavy pieces of iron tank each containing seven thousand pounds of powder are to be sunk in suitable parts of the Dardanelles and the entrance of Marmora at the mouth of the Black Sea and in the Bosphorus These tanks are to be filled with durable and most delicate apparatus which will not fail to explode on board the approach of any ship over the spots at which they are sunk In case of the approach of a hostile fleet these powerful submarine mines would be exploded and within a radius of 600 feet would inevitably destroy the largest iron-clad built These tanks are now building, and experiments in the explosion of submarine iron mines and torpedoes are being conducted by the Superintendent of this department of the Turkish Navy, who is represented to have formerly been an officer in the United States Navy

Health Reform Association

BUENA VISTA, June 16 1871

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

SIR: The annual meeting of the Oregon and Washington Health Reform Association was held in this place, commencing on the 7th inst and closing on the evening of the 8th

All the sessions of the Society were well attended by the people of the village and great interest was manifested in the various discussions on the hygienic mode of preserving health and curing disease The importance of the subject certainly merits the most careful consideration of the people of any community

Addresses were delivered by Dr T Davenport Mr W J Laughary and Mrs H A Laughary All were were well received

These and several others participated in the discussion which occupied the greater part of the time Dr Davenport favored us with much practical information in the treatment of various forms of disease without drug medication and was seconded by several others whose reports were certainly gratifying.

Every session was enlivened by music—vocal with organ accompaniment for which the citizens return their hearty thanks—especially to the family of Mr Laughary

The annual address was delivered by Mrs J C Hill, wife of W Lair Hill, Esq, of Portland, on Wednesday evening, to a densely crowded house, that manifested its appreciation by the most perfect order I ever saw and by hearty cheering at the close The address was excellent—full of sound, solid practical thought well written and remarkably well delivered It certainly did great credit to the talented and graceful young speaker I think many prejudices must have melted away under the sound of that musical womanly voice freighted, as it was with sound logic and reason

PORTIA

The State Temperance Convention

This body in session at Salem last week adopted the following resolutions

Resolved, 1st That it seems to us the best policy, for the friends of Temperance to unite in getting a State law enacted giving to precincts incorporated towns and cities the sole right by ballot to allow or refuse license for the sale of intoxicating liquors within their limits and that where licenses are thus granted by ballot those persons who may be licensed be held responsible for the effects of what they sell, according to the Ohio law

Resolved, 2d That in harmony with the above, we appoint a committee of three in each county, who, calling to their aid such help as they may need, shall thoroughly canvass the State for the names of citizens and voters in separate lists, petitioning the Legislature to that effect

Resolved, 3d That a committee of five be appointed as a Central State Committee to counsel with leading politicians and statesmen of the State, arranging for temperance voters to act with either existing political party that will incorporate the first of these resolutions into its platform, or in case neither party will do this to organize a separate Temperance party that will

Resolved, 4th That the use of alcohol either as a beverage or a medicine, or for sacramental purposes is most pernicious to the human family That as a medicine it has no use but is in abuse always, and that the only true and practical platform for earnest temperance men and women is total abstinence from all spirituous or malt liquors for any of all purposes which require it to be taken into the human system, and we further deliberately resolve that so long as we admit the theory of the doctors that alcohol is useful in the human system that it supports vitality and is therefore necessary for the preservation of human life we can never succeed to any great extent, in convincing people that it is a poisonous substance, only when it is taken without the authority of a regular physician as they are not likely to believe that a physician has the magical power to change the physical properties of alcohol and divest it of its poisonous qualities merely by a prescription We ought to recognize the fact that a house divided against itself cannot stand and that doctors theory and practice will always succeed in making as many tipplers as we do temperance orators, thus neutralizing our efforts

In accordance with the provisions of the third resolution the following committee was appointed

Jacob Conser, Mrs Mirgene C Beal E W Ryan and J H McClane

The Origin of Secession

The American mind is gradually going to the bottom of things in politics hence we find the New York Herald thus speaking of the origin of secession in the United States Jefferson's name no longer saves him from censure in this great matter

This fallacy of State sovereignty in the very teeth of the Constitution emanated from Thomas Jefferson and was first proclaimed in the so called Virginia resolutions of 98 and next in the Kentucky resolutions of 99 The sympathies of Jefferson and his followers were with the French republic of that day while Washington and his party held the atrocities of that republic in undisguised detestation But France had been our ally and England had been our oppressor and so from his popular French sympathies Jefferson in 1801 advanced his party to the possession of the Government But State sovereignty as an idea did no mischief under Jefferson, and none to speak of during that whole period in which our intercommunications from State to State were over difficult roads by horse power or coastwise by sailing vessels To these conditions in a new country strong State governments and a loose sort of general administration were well adapted, notwithstanding the warnings of State sovereignty furnished in the revolt of the ten tribes of Israel in the incessant quarrels and wars of the petty sovereign States of ancient Greece and in the wars of the petty sovereignties of Italy, and Germany and France Spain Great Britain and Ireland with each other

But our Southern rebellion on this Jeffersonian fallacy of State sovereignty in being delayed until after the general introduction of railways and telegraphs all over the country, and too late! All the pre existing conditions of intercourse between the States and from the central government with the States had been changed The railway and the telegraph with their centralizing forces, had simply made with us a confederation of State sovereignties the two confederacies an impossibility The Mississippi river is a powerful bond of union but the bonds of the railway, and the telegraph are stronger than the Mississippi These potential forces of union and centralization swamped the Southern confederacy, and yet the antediluvian fire eater Davis is out again preaching State sovereignty The Italian's dream of five hundred years of Italian unity was left to be realized by the railway and the telegraph and after all the wranglings and fightings of the petty divisions and subdivisions of Germany, the labors of the great Bismarck for German unity would have failed but for his powerful allies the railway and the telegraph

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 20, 1871.

The Municipal Election.

The success of the Republican ticket in the municipal election yesterday was complete. Every Ward was carried and every candidate on the Republican ticket was elected. The majorities are large, but they would have been larger had a general effort been made on the part of Republicans. The opposition did not contest the election in very strong force. The result is only another proof that Portland is a reliably Republican city.

Financial Bearings of the New Departure.

Some of the financial bearings of the "new departure" are considered in a well digested article in the New York Tribune. It seems, observes that paper, that the Democracy of Ohio are not satisfied with our financial condition; they are not willing to let well enough alone. We have kept faith with the national creditor: the Ohio Democrats propose to cheat him by paying him off in greenbacks instead of gold. For several years there has been a belief—a superstition, if the reader pleases—that the principal of the United States five-twenty bonds is payable in gold. No other view of the obligation has ever been held by the Government at Washington; and foreigners, savings banks, and other purchasers have all bought under this supposition. The moral obligation is complete; and confidence that it would always be regarded is, standing on the Government has done more, perhaps, than all other influences combined to protect us from the troubles which threatened when the war came to an end. As the first step in their great scheme of reforming Mr. Boutwell's department, the Ohio Democrats would destroy the Government credit by forcing every holder of Government bonds to surrender them for ten per cent. less than their present market price, which is still below par in gold.

Next, the Ohio Democrats would convert the Secretary of the Treasury into a great speculator in gold, by making the duties on foreign merchandise payable in currency, thus by depriving the Government of its only means of getting gold for the payment of interest, and forcing it into the market as a buyer instead of a seller—a measure which promptly would "elevate" the credit of the Government. As a third improvement, the Ohio Democracy propose to destroy the "unconstitutional, oppressive, and extortionate system of banking, whereby money is made scarce and interest high." They propose to do this instead of the National Banks, but instead of replacing their circulation with greenbacks, when, we suppose, money would be more plentiful and interest low.

Finally, they declare in favor of the collection of the internal revenue by the State authorities. Between the Tammany Ring in New York, and the Vallandigham crowd of famished wanderers, if they should ever happen to get into power in Ohio, the internal revenue would be apt to sink to insignificance speedily, as most of it is now levied on whisky and other alcoholic liquors, which Democrats think it unconstitutional, wicked, and tending towards centralization and a military despotism to tax at all. With the Democracy of Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky collecting the whisky tax, and with a free trade tariff, "strict economy" indeed would be necessary to carry on the National Government. We doubt if the National Government would be able to survive a four years' course of such economy."

Plain Financial Statements.

A financial writer in a leading Eastern journal has an article showing by an elaborate presentation of facts and figures that the policy of the Government since the close of the war in 1865, which left a debt upon the country of $2,755,000,000, and an annual taxation of $311,000,000, has been to reduce steadily both debt and taxes: to reduce the principal of the debt by actual payments, and to lessen the annual burden of interest, and thereby the burden of taxation, not only through such payments, but by funding the debt at the cheapest rates of interest practicable from time to time, until it is now felt that the very cheapest rates are due to the high credit established public faith, and vast and growing resources of the country. From $2,755,000,000 the principal of the debt has been reduced to $2,260,000,000—both sums exclusive of accrued interest—and from the heavy burden of $151,832,000 per annum, the interest has been reduced to $112,780,000 per annum while the annual taxation under the Internal Revenue system, which the necessities of the war and the debt thereby created rendered necessary for at least a short series of years, has been reduced from $311,000,000 in 1867 to about $154,000,000 per annum in 1870—less than one-half the first named sum. And in the year 1871–72 a further reduction of $28,000,000 will come in under the Act of July, 1870, so as to give only $126,100,000 for the year, or about two-fifths the maximum of 1865–66.

By the successful refunding of the public debt at moderate rates of interest, and by continued economies in the expenditures of the Government—which in two years, from March 4, 1869, to March 4, 1871, amounted to $126,700,949, or an average per year of $63,350,474—it is believed that nearly the entire system of internal taxes can be dispensed with in a few years, or so much of it as requires the machinery of District Assessors and Collectors.

The "new departure" goes back on the Democracy of this city with a force that nearly jerks their heads off. Several Democrats were observed to vote the Republican ticket yesterday. Doubtless they were honest men, who thought that the surest way of carrying their new principles into effect was to vote with the Republicans.

CURRENT NOTES.

The Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio belongs to the family of "Fighting McCooks," but not since the Mexican war has he done any fighting.

Theodore Gerlock, a soldier on San Juan Island, was found dead a few days ago. It is supposed that while helpless from the influence of liquor he fell into a pool of shallow water and drowned.

The rice planters of Louisiana have not attempted to extend the culture as much this year as in previous recent seasons. The New Orleans Picayune says, in fact, that the planting this season was not larger than last year, and that it will be idle to look for a crop of over 80,000 barrels, or 16,000,000 pounds.

The Rothschilds are said to have lost from fifty to seventy-five million dollars by the result of the Franco-German war. They all believed at first that the French would be victorious, but two weeks after the Germans had crossed the Rhine they saw their mistake and made new investments which prevented them from losing thrice as much as they would have done had they not corrected their blunder in good time.

Hall's Arctic Expedition.

THE VESSEL AND THE CREW—PLAN OF THE VOYAGE.

Capt. Hall and his party are now on the eve of leaving us for a long and perilous voyage that will probably cover a period of three years, or perhaps more. We yesterday visited Capt. Hall on board of his ship, the Polaris, at the navy yard, for the purpose of bidding him good-bye, and wishing him a prosperous and successful voyage. The Polaris formerly the Periwinkle, is a vessel belonging to the Government, but rebuilt and fitted for this expedition in such a manner as almost to be a new and very superior craft. She is of about 400 tons measurement, considerably larger than the Advance, in which Dr. Kane undertook his famous voyage, and about the same size as the Germania which left Bremen two years ago on an expedition to the Arctic Seas. She has been planked all over her sides with six inches of solid white oak timbers, and has throughout been nearly doubled in strength; her bows being almost a solid mass of timber, sheathed with iron, and terminating in a sharp iron prow with which to cut through the ice.

As to those who are going to be the principals in this adventurous and dangerous expedition, they are, all told, 19 men. There is not a man among them whose qualities and character have not been well tested, from the captain down to the cook. The leader and commander-in-chief is, of course, Capt. Hall; next in command comes Capt. S. O. Buddington, of New London, an old whaling master of 30 years' experience, 21 of which were spent in Davis' Strait and Baffin's Bay. He is an old and trusted friend of Capt. Hall, who has implicit faith in his long experience and acknowledged ability. The second officer is Mr. H. C. Chester, also a whaling man of 12 years' experience among the ice, and the third officer is Mr. William Morton, who was Dr. Kane's trusted friend and companion, and is the only living mortal to whom it was ever permitted to look upon the open Polar Sea. He had the sad privilege to accompany Dr. Kane to Havana, and to bring his remains from there to Philadelphia, for interment. Mr. Emil Schuman occupies the post of first engineer, and the scientific corps will consist of three gentlemen, one of whom, Dr. Emil Bissells, of Heidelberg, Germany, will attend the expedition as surgeon-naturalist. A student from the observatory at Ann Arbor, Michigan, will probably be the astronomer; an officer of the Signal Service Department will be aboard in the capacity of meteorologist. Besides these, there will be a blacksmith, carpenter and 14 sailors, besides the Esquimaux interpreter, Joe, and his wife, Hannah. This latter interesting couple, with their little daughter, are genuine specimens of the Esquimaux, but having been in constant company with Capt. Hall for eight years past, they speak very good English, and have acquired civilized manners. Joe is a famous hunter and "sealer," and his little wife is quite an accomplished woman in a "small" way, with considerable talent for languages and music.

Although Capt. Hall expects to accomplish his purpose of penetrating into the great polar basin, if such a one really exists, and visiting the north pole, in less than three years, the Polaris has been provisioned for four years, which can be extended to six with a little economy and judicious distribution of rations. The great staple of provisions is the so-called "pemmican," which is composed of three parts of selected dried meat to one part of the best suet, mixed with some other ingredients. The food is both nourishing and wholesome, and through the absence of salt there is no danger of scurvy—that pestilence of Arctic travelers—to be feared from its use. It is packed in 45 pound tin cans, hermetically sealed, and of this there is no less than 10,000 pounds stowed away in the hold, the manufacturer of which consumed and condensed 23,000 pounds of ordinary beef and 5,000 pounds of suet. Besides this there is any quantity of dried and desiccated vegetables, such as potatoes, tomatoes, onions, etc., and a large stock of flour, biscuits, sugar, coffee, tea, condensed milk, canned fruits, and all necessaries for a protracted voyage.

The plan of the voyage will be first to New York, where Joe and Hannah will join the ship, and from there to St. Johns, Newfoundland, where the Polaris will take on board a fresh supply of coal. From there the route will be to the Danish colonies of Holsteinborg and Levele, on the west coast of Greenland, and thence to the still more northerly Esquimaux settlement of Upernavick and Disko, at one of which places a depot will be established. A Government transport has been detailed to accompany the expedition as far as this, carrying coal, lumber and other heavy articles to this reserve station. In August Capt. Hall expects to be able to push up through Jones' Sound, as far as to latitude 80 or 81 deg., where winter quarters will be established, and the dark and dreary winter night passed, during which it is impossible to push further on. But, with early spring, or as soon as the weather permits, the voyage will be continued until solid land or ice shall effectually stop further progress, when the expedition will proceed on sledges, to be obtained from the Esquimaux tribes that inhabit this region.—Washington Patriot.

The Explosion in the Champ de Mars.

SOME PARTICULARS—SICKENING SCENES.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times, under date of May 18th, gives the following particulars of the cartridge factory explosion in the Champ de Mars:

I did not get on the ground on which the manufactory had stood until it was nearly cleared of all the mangled, blackened bodies, or rather scattered portions of bodies, with which it was found thickly covered; but eye-witnesses tell me that the sight was such as it would be impossible to describe without sickening your readers. I must leave them to imagine for themselves the aspect of a place upon which more than a hundred bodies, blackened by fire and torn to pieces, limb from limb, had been literally showered down from a great height in the air. I myself saw—or otherwise I confess I should have scarcely believed it—half a body taken down from the roof of one of the tallest houses in the neighborhood, up to which it must have been thrown all the way from the ground. But what struck me most, and what is a less sickening subject to dwell on, was the marvelous completeness with which the manufactory had not merely been destroyed, but so annihilated that scarcely a trace of it could be seen. One looked about wonderingly in vain trying to discover where it had stood. A few charred beams, a pool or two of molten lead, again congealed, endless skeletons of cartridge boxes, and here and there heaps of ashes were all that was left of it. Still more remarkable, perhaps, was the wide-spread extent of the destruction. As we walked down a street, nearly half a mile from the manufactory, we found that scarcely a single window had escaped. The street was thickly paved with broken glass. Nearer, but still several hundred yards off, the roofs of some of the less strongly-built houses had fallen in, and in other huge cracks showed where even the solid masonry of the walls had given way. A row of houses, within, perhaps, a hundred yards of the manufactory, has been completely gutted, as far as one could judge from the outside. It was not permitted to enter them, as they were so injured there was no knowing at what moment they might not fall; but looking through the windows, one could see that scarcely an article of furniture had been left whole. Each room was a litter of ruins, much like rooms I have seen after a shell has burst in them. Yet, strange to say, some of the people in these houses escaped with life. I heard one woman describing how she was dressing when the shock came, and how, though at first thrown violently on her face, she was able to get up at once and rush down stairs. There on the ground in front of the house she found some of the bedding that had been thrown out of the window, and was able to cover herself with this until some kind neighbor lent her a petticoat. In her case the ludicrous rather predominated over the terrible; but I witnessed many heart-rending scenes, as residents who had happened to be absent when the explosion occurred came up in breathless anxiety to get tidings of their relations or friends.

At the dinner of an Irish Association, not long since, the following toast was given: Here's to the President of the Society, Patrick O'Rafferty, an' may he live to eat the chicken that scrafches over his grave.

A parson, reading the funeral services at the grave, forgot the sex of the deceased, and asked one of the mourners, an Emeralder, "Is this a brother or a sister?" "Nayther," replied Pat, "only a cousin."

GENERAL AGENTS WANTED.

A well-established and prosperous Life Insurance Company, incorporated in New York State, is desirous of extending its business to Oregon.

Gentlemen who apply must state in detail their facilities for accomplishing a success, and what experience, if any, they may have had in the Life Insurance business. Those who are now acting as sub (or Local) Agents for other Life Companies will find this a capital chance for forming a more profitable connection with a more extensive field.

All communications treated confidentially.

MARRIED:

At the residence of the bride's father, June 14, 1871, by Isaac Hill, J. P., Mr. James S. Howell and Miss Caroline M. Sweek, all of Washington county.

DIED:

On the Atahnam, Yakima county, W. T., June 15, 1871, at 2:30 A. M., Susan L., wife of Calvin A. Raymond, and daughter of Elisha S. and Lucy C. Farmer, aged 26 years.

It is but a few months ago that Mrs. Raymond came to this valley to see if a change of climate would improve her health. But disease had become too deeply rooted and she continued to fail rapidly. It soon became evident that she had but a short time to live. Near midnight of the 12th she felt the presence of death close at hand. Speaking to her mother, who was watching by her, she said, "I think I am dying," and asked her to call the family. She kissed each one and bid them good-bye, assuring them that she was "not afraid to die." Speaking of her many friends one by one, she said, "I do not wish to forget one of them." Soon after her breathing became fainter and fainter until it ceased. Mrs. Raymond at an early age made an open profession of religion and has continued a devoted and sincere Christian; proving her Christianity on her death bed: dying as only Christians can do. Tortured by the most excruciating pains, she complained not and yielded up her young life without a murmur, firmly believing in a glorious immortality beyond the grave. C.

NEW 7-30 GOLD LOAN

OF THE

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD CO.

Secured by First Mortgage on Railroad and Land Grant.

COLD PAYMENT.

BOTH PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST ARE PAYable in American Gold Coin, at the office of Jay Cooke & Co., New York City—the Principal at the end of 30 Years, and the Interest at the rate of seven and three tenth per cent. per annum, half yearly, first of January and July.

THE RATE OF INTEREST

Is a most convenient as well as profitable one, being seven dollars and thirty cents each year on every hundred dollars, or on the various denominations of bonds as follows:

Two cents per day on each	$100 bond
Ten " " "	500 "
Twenty cents per day on each	1,000 "
One dollar " " "	5,000 "
Two dollars " " "	10,000 "

BONDS RECEIVABLE FOR LANDS.

By the terms of the mortgage the 7-30 bonds of the Company are always receivable, at par and accrued interest, in payment for the Company's lands at their lowest graded prices; and by the arrangement between the Trustees and the Directors of the Company, in all cash purchases of land from the Railroad, 10 per cent. discount will be made from the purchase price wherever the Company's first mortgage bonds are offered in payment. In other words, Northern Pacific 7-30's are, if desired, at all times convertible, at 1.10, into real estate at lowest cash prices.

These Bonds, principal and interest payable in American gold coin, are now offered for sale at par and accrued interest in currency, thus yielding at the present rate of premium on gold, over eight per cent. gold on amount of gold investment.

It will be noticed that these Bonds may be used at the holders option as a LAND WARRANT, for the purpose of locating any lands which are granted to the Company at a premium of ten per cent meanwhile earning for the holder eight per cent per annum.

During the coming year it is anticipated that the Company will have equipped sufficient roads to entitle to patents from the Government for 3,000,000 acres of land in Minnesota and 500,000 acres in Washington Territory. For sale by

MILLS SEMINARY.

REV. T. T. MILLS AND WIFE, FOR the past six years Principals of the Young Ladies Seminary at Benicia, are happy to announce to their patrons and friends, that the next term of their well known Institution, will open

Wednesday, August 2, 1871,

In their New, Commodious and Beautiful Building, just completed at SEMINARY PARK, BROOKLYN.

As most of the able and experienced corps of Teachers, with valuable accessions, as well as the fine classes of pupils now pursuing their studies remain with them, the School remains essentially unchanged with greatly increased facilities for physical comfort and intellectual culture without additional expense. Mr and Mrs. Mills believe they can accomplish much more for their pupils in the future than they have been able to do in the past, and that the Institution offers unrivalled advantages for a thorough and finished education.

All communications relating to admission and all letters of inquiry should be addressed to

...EXPORTS PER ORIFLAMME —The steamship Ori... ... took away last evening the following ... 300 kegs eggs, 15 cs lard, 50 cs and ½ bbls butter, ... bbls paper, 2,440 qr sks flour, 16 cs mdse 10 ... cs oat meal 400 cs and 44 bbls salmon, 160 sks ... wheat, 186 sks wool, 830 sks flax seed, 75 cs ... bacon, 103 bbls pork Total, about ... tons.

...SERENADE.—A considerable number of the per... friends of Mr Phillip Wasserman, with a ... band of music, visited his residence about eleven ... o'clock last evening and gave him a serenade ... Mr Wasserman appeared and thanked them for ... the compliment, but excused himself from making ... any extended remarks The crowd gave three ... cheers for the Mayor elect and retired

...DRY GOODS —We ask the attention of the la... to this especially, and everybody in general, to Mr. ... John Wilson's announcement in another column. ... Mr. Wilson's store is on Third street, between ... Washington and Yamhill, and he is reputed to be ... one of the fairest dealers of the city.

THE REASON WHY.

It may be charged that many Democrats worked for the Republican nominees in the city election and that the default is attributable to them. That there were Democrats who have seen fit to ignore certain rings and cliques, there can be no question, and the old Latin maxim will apply just here, Parte quacunque te jubtata, tolitur totum. Now, the Democracy of Portland, as well as that of the State, not proposing to be run in the interest of any man, or set of men, have simply seen fit to day to rebuke those who have undertaken to rule the party and I would ask that this be a lesson to them

PERSONAL.

GONE THIS TIME, SURE —Police Commissioner Burke and Capt Jo Wiley left last evening by the steamer for a trip to San Francisco and other towns in California While absent, they will probably inquire somewhat into the police systems of California cities.

Mr. A. de Laski, an English gentleman of wealth who has been for two or three weeks in Oregon, visiting the Dalles and making a tour of the Wallamet valley, together with Mr Koch and Mr Stewart, traveling companions, left on the steamer Oriflamme last evening, for Victoria The party propose to visit British Columbia and Puget Sound before returning home

BUSINESS NOTICES.

ON EXHIBITION —Mr E P Hicks has two very singular but important articles One a self opening and self closing gate model the other a straight mouldboard plow, easy of construction easy to draw, and easy to hold Men who mean business will find them near the Postoffice in the morning or evening, or address Mr Hicks Portland P O.

COMPRESSED AIR AS A MOTIVE POWER —A Portland (Me) correspondent of the Boston Advertiser says The experiments which Mr Robert Spear has recently made in this city upon compressed air as a motive power have made a very considerable sensation among men of all classes, mechanics manufacturers, capitalists and inventors It is evident that in certain branches of manufacture a complete revolution must follow upon the general introduction of this, simple and economical substitute for steam or water power Whether engines of very high pressure can be successfully worked by this new agency is still a debatable question among our intelligent mechanicians. Mr. Spear has invented a governor which as easily controls the pressure as the governor of a steam-engine He claims that air can be compressed in the reservoir to an extent double the power of the engine that compresses, thereby saving a very large per cent in fuel, that the pipes can be extended to an almost indefinite extent, and the obstacle of friction, which previous experimenters have found almost impossible to deal with, is by a simple invention of Mr Spear's entirely overcome The necessity of long lines of shafting in large shops is thereby obviated, and each workman becoming as it were his own engineer, the work of keeping a large engine constantly running when perhaps only a small part of the factory's machinery is in motion is done away with Mr. Spear affirms that the tidal force at Tukey's bridge alone is sufficient to furnish compressed air for all the machinery in this neighborhood, and that the water power at the Lower Falls of the Presumpscot, if applied to the same purpose, would give a sufficient power for a manufacturing city of hundreds of thousands of inhabitants

A few words about S T 1860 X which Mrs Partington says means "Satan turned loose in 1860 but she don't know what X means" Why, good lady it is the national emblem—the sign over your door—the innocent Latin of PLANTATION BITTERS Everybody and everything has a sign or name This is our sign which has been read by more men, women and children, and carried a blessing into more families in every part of the habitable globe than any sign in America But the name is of little consequence it is the article which is so universally applicable for that numerous class of complaints which come under the head of "Out of Sorts

THE DEMOCRATIC SCHISM —We have said that the Democracy is divided into two wings One consists of those who oppose the Republican party on principle, and have faith in the final triumph of the cause which now seems lost The other is composed of the hangers on, who went with the rebels because they thought the Confederacy would be an accomplished fact They were actuated by motives of policy Vallandighum is a representative of this type He was a loud mouthed rebel sympathizer so long as he thought the cause in a fair way to triumph Since then he has been trying to edge off and bring his party with him It is a notable fact that the two representative men of the Democracy to day are Jeff Davis and Vallandighum His recent speech made the ex President the virtual leader of the incorrigibles He is dogged in his clinging to secession, and believes it will yet be accomplished He wants to light on the same line in politics as in war The rebel chief of the South has for his most conspicuous opponent the chief copperhead of the North Nothing could show more plainly the demoralized condition of the party Never was a party more effectually divided against itself than the Democracy of to day What is claimed as a "new departure" is really a new schism more distinct and ominous than the one which culminated in the Douglas Breckinridge duel for the Presidency —Chicago Evening Journal

The Chinese are imitative They are fast learning the habits of American men, swearing and striking among the rest We notice in an Oakland (Cal) paper that fifty Chinamen employed at a nursery at San Leandro in picking fruit "struck" June 12th for a less number of hours work than they have been employed It seems that some Chinese fruit pickers at two neighboring places had been working fewer hours per day than at the nursery aforesaid, and hence the discontentedness and "strike" A halt in the fruit picking business at this season of the year is a serious matter and attended with great pecuniary loss, and the Celestials knew it They are not sure however of effecting their purpose.

The Stockton (Cal) Independent, of the 9th inst gives this estimate of the California wheat crop If the total production for this year is not over one half of what it was last year, it will show but 225,000 tons for the State, and if it requires 205,000 tons for our own use, it will leave but 20,000 tons for export, or less than one tenth as much as was exported last year

Valuable Hints.

A regular habit of body is absolutely essential to physical health and clearness of Intellect Nor is this all Beauty of person cannot co exist with an unnatural condition of the bowels A free passage of the refuse matter of the system through these natural waste pipes, is as necessary to the purity of the body as the free passage of the offal of a city through its sewers is necessary to the health of its inhabitants

Indigestion is the primary cause of most of the diseases of the discharging organs and one of its most common results is constipation This complaint besides being dangerous in itself, has many disagreeable concomitants —such as an unpleasant breath a sallow skin contaminating blood and bile, hemorrhoids, headache, loss of memory and general debility

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters remove all these evils by removing their immediate cause in the digestive organs, and regulating the action of the intestines The combination of properties in this celebrated preparation is one of its chief merits It is not merely a stimulant or a tonic or an antibilious agent, or a nervine, or a blood depurent or a cathartic but all these curative elements judiciously blended in one powerful restorative It lends activity and vigor to the inert and enervated stomach relieves the alimentary canal of its obstructions and gives tone to the membrane which lines it gently stimulates the liver, braces the nerves and cheers the animal spirits No other remedy promises such a variety of hygienic virtues It is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine Experience has proved that it is as harmless as it is efficacious and hence it is a popular with the weaker sex as with the stronger

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are sold in bottles only and the trade mark blown in the glass and engraved on the label is the test of genuineness Beware of counterfeits

Is our Moon Inhabited.

[From the Cornhill Magazine.]

But here the question is naturally suggested whether our own moon, which is but a quarter of a million of miles from us, ought not first to be examined for signs of life, or, at least, of being fitted for the support of life. When the telescope was first invented, it is certain that astronomers were more hopeful of recognizing such signs in the moon than in any other celestial body. As telescopes of greater power were constructed, our satellite was searched with a more and more eager scrutiny. And many a long year elapsed before astronomers would accept the conclusion that the moon's surface is wholly unfitted for the support of any of those forms of life with which we are familiar upon earth. That the belief in lunar men prevailed in the popular mind long after astronomers had abandoned it, is shown by the eager credulity with which the story of Sir John Herschel's supposed observations of the customs and manners of the Lunarians was accepted even among well-educated men. Who can forget the gravity with which that most amazing hoax was repeated in all quarters? It was, indeed, ingeniously contrived. The anxiety of Sir John Herschel to secure the assistance of King William, and the care with which "our sailor-king" inquired whether the interests of nautical astronomy would be advanced by the proposed inquires; the plausible explanation of the mode of observation depending, we were gravely assured, upon the transmission of light; the trembling anxiety of Herschel and his fellow-workers as the moment arrived when their search was to commence; the flowers, resembling poppies, which first rewarded their scrutiny; and the final introduction upon the scene of those winged beings—not, strictly speaking, men, nor properly to be called angels—to whom Herschel assigned the generic appellation, Vespertilio Homo, or Bat-men. All these things, and many others equally amusing, were described with marvelous gravity, and with an attention to details reminding one of the descriptions in Gulliver's Travels. One can hardly wonder, then, that the narrative was received in many quarters with unquestioning faith, nor, perhaps, even at the simplicity with which (as Sir John Herschel himself relates) well-meaning persons planned measures for sending missionaries "among the poor benighted Lunarians."

Yet astronomers have long known full certainly that no forms of life, such as we are familiar with, can exist upon the moon. They know that if our satellite has an atmosphere at all, that atmosphere must be so limited in extent that no creatures we are acquainted with could live on it. They know that she has no oceans, seas, rivers or lakes, neither clouds nor rains, and that if she had, there would be no winds to waft moisture from place to place, or to cause the clouds to distribute fatness upon the lunar fields. They know, also, that the moon's surface is subjected alternately to a cold far more intense than that which binds our arctic regions in everlasting frost, and to a heat compared with which the fierce noon of a tropical day is as the freshness of a spring morning. They search only over the lunar disk for the signs of volcanic action, feeling well assured that the traces of the existence of living creatures will ever be detected in that desolate orb.

Idea Mongers.

[From the London Saturday Review.]

A man who has ideas very far in advance of his age wins very little credit in his own age, and for the most part does very little practical good. The man who is really to guide his fellow creatures must, in the nature of things, be in advance of other people, but he cannot be too far in advance of them. He must not be so far advance of them that they cannot understand or sympathize with him. A man who is speculative and in practical affairs a man who is so far above his own and all relations with the men and means to deal has but little influence, and therefore do but little good. His sayings, his writings may remain to be considered at by a distant posterity; but with his own generation they are thrown away. He is mocked at as an "idea monger" in many times and places he is lucky if he escapes the prison and the stake. Every man of intellectual, political, or religious, who has had the pioneers of this kind, whose influence they have had any, has not been the favorite of his own contemporaries, but on men of a different stamp have heard their story or read their writings. Yet we cannot think that they are altogether unworthy of honor; we cannot look on their premature wisdom as folly rather than folly. Take, for instance, the case of Bacon. Roger was at least as great a man as Francis; considering the circumstances of his time, we should be inclined to say that he was a much greater man. But he had little or no influence on his own age, simply because he was so far in advance of it. His fame is as a isolated fact, to be admired by a more prosperity. But in the age of Francis the world in general had greatly advanced beyond the age of Roger. Francis therefore was not so far in advance of his age that there were other minds who were able to take up and follow out his teaching. Science therefore simply remains the glory of the thirteenth century; Francis has been the master of every age since the seventeenth.

More than this, when the time has really come for a new idea can be pressed with a reasonable chance of success, it is seldom the man who first starts it who either gets the credit of it or puts it into practice. It constantly does not at all necessarily through any fault of his, that another steppeth down before his original prophet and wins the success which should rightly have been the first mover, therefore, is such an "idea monger," while the reward in for the honors of a successful man. If a man simply seeks for men after him, premature wisdom is the height of folly. Before his time adopted, he is laughed at; after it has been adopted, he is forgotten. Any one who has stirred much in controversy must have lived to hear his own sayings quoted to him the last new discovery of the newest man. Yet the poor "idea monger"—the old man who has been so silly as to think of a thing before other people—may have been doing some practical good all the same. He may have done something to teach the newest men, though the newest light may know nothing about him. But if a man simply wants immediate credit and immediate influence, he will avoid the folly of premature wisdom, he will never think of things before other people; he will wait and find out what is in the mind of the public at large in a crude and unformed shape; he will link into a better shape, and put it forth to an admiring world as the words of the newest and the best wisdom. Verily he hath his reward; it is to our taste, the reward of Roger Bacon is better worth having.

A Life for a Postage Stamp.—An extraordinary riot is reported from Grimsby, in Lincolnshire, England. On the night of the 15th of May, the house of Mr. Holland, surgeon, town councillor and magistrate, was surrounded by a mob, approaching 10,000 in number, and the windows on the ground and first floors were completely demolished. Mr. Holland had prosecuted his cook for stealing a postage stamp. He did not press for more than a formal conviction, and she received the nominal sentence of one day's imprisonment. The young lady went to Louth, where she had friends, and was told that her "young man" had declared that he would have nothing more to do with her. She therefore poisoned herself. A misstatement of the facts concerning the prosecution was put forward, and popular indignation against Mr. Holland was the consequence. A procession of effigies, burning tar barrels and music paraded the streets, ending in the rioters' attack upon Mr. Holland's residence.

A Divided Population.—A German correspondent writes: "A most serious dissension has broken out in Bavaria. The members are nearly all adherents of Dr. Dollinger, while the women are infallibilists. At Landshut the apothecary had collected 130 signatures to an address to Dr. Dollinger. Owing to female opposition 103 were eventually withdrawn, and the 26 left were stated to be those of bachelors."

Whenever a preacher haz preached a sermon that pleazes the whole congregashun, he probably haz preached one that the Lord won't indorse.—Billings.

Chignons of mixed colors, as blond or red and black, are announced as coming into vogue.

There were, in 1776, fifty post offices in the United States. There are now twenty thousand.

The horse that Sherman rode in his famous march to the sea is owned by a Madison (Wisconsin) man.

Chinese cucumbers are said to grow from five to eight feet in length, and from six to nine inches in diameter.

A Wisconsin postmaster has written to Washington for "some eternal revenue stamps," saying "he has several cats for them."

The New York correspondent of the Times believes in clubs, where young men "have all the advantages of home, with none of its discomforts."

He is in Indiana now; 111 years old; saw Washington often during the Revolution, and is yet hale and hearty. They call him Ross out there.

The steam power employed in this country is equal to 130,000,000 men; but that of Great Britain is superior, being equal to 400,000,000 men.

"I've three cents left," said a loafer, "so I'll buy a paper with them." What paper will you buy said a friend, curious to learn the literary taste of his acquaintance. "A paper of tobacco," replied the loafer.

New Haven boasts of a horse-chestnut tree that blossoms on one side only one year, and on the other side the next year, for six successive years, and then interrupts the regularity by blossoming all over on the seventh year.

A strong argument in favor of the persistent use of tobacco, at least under some circumstances, has recently come to light in the discovery of the fact that the Fiji cannibals positively refuse to eat gentlemen who are addicted to the use of the weed.

Some time ago the people of Michigan were greatly excited over the question whether a Professorship of Homeopathy should be established in their University, and now the people of Iowa have the same question before them in regard to the University of that State.

Madame Bonaparte-Wyse-Ratazzi, the eccentric, witty and cynical wife of the ex-Premier of Italy, has named her latest heir "Roma-Isabella-Alexandrin-Italia-Maria-Letizia-Alice." It is one of the feminine gender, and in spite of the complication of names there is only one of her.

Here is the last of a shoemaker, beyond which let no cobbler go: A lady complaining that the soles of her shoes were too thick, the artful manufacturer said to her, "Is this your only objection to them, madame?" "It is," replied the lady. "Well, then, madame, if you take them I think I can assure you you will find that objection gradually wear away."

Henry A. Wise has discovered the cause of the death of James M. Mason, of Virginia, and gives a diagnosis in this unusual language: "The disasters to the South, the wounds to his pride, the aching agony of seeing all his hopes of liberty, self-government and State Rights blasted, the desecration of sacred things and the devastation and demoralization he witnessed on coming home, were too much tension on the nerves of a tinged man of delicate sensibilities and a proud sense of honor; and he could no longer endure."

Here is a rhymed Hiberian version of the story of the finding of Moses:

On Ayjip's banks, contiguous to the Nolle,
King Pharo-o's daughter went to wunk awhoile;
And peeling off her deds to take a schwim,
Jun up and down the banks to dhry her skins;
And, rushing thro' the rushes, thick and thin,
Discovered the baskit that the child lay in.
And this and there she cried in accents woild,
"Which is yez ladies own this child?
It's none o' your own we're juick to say;
An', that's the truth, I've known you many a day;
But since we've found him in this kind of recess,
By all means let me christen him Howly Moses."

THE UNK WEED REMEDY
on
OREGON RHEUMATIC CURE!

HISTORY.

THIS REMEDY IS COMPOSED OF THE ACTIVE principle of the Unk Weed, Eng.—Thuspium Cordatum Originius, Lat.—Indigenous to Oregon. Grows most abundantly and perfectly in Washington county.

It is the most sure and speedy cure for RHEUMATISM, RHEUMATIC GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PAINS, of all kinds that was ever introduced in the Materia Medica.

Read the following certificates of the above fact from several of the most distinguished citizens of Oregon.

Certificate from A. R. Shipley, Esq., special contributor to the Willamette Farmer, and Secretary of the Oregon Horticultural Society:

OSWEGO, Or., March 28, 1871

DR. A. M. LORYEA—Some four weeks ago I was entirely prostrated with Rheumatism; in fact I was almost helpless. I sent to you for one ill-comer bottle of the "Unk Weed Remedy," by the use of which I experienced almost immediate relief; and by the time the bottle was gone the Rheumatism was gone. From my own experience, and from what I have heard others say who have used the Unk Weed, I believe it to be a certain cure for Rheumatism. Yours, respectfully, A. R. SHIPLEY.

Certificate from the Hon. A. J. Dufur, ex-President of the Oregon State Agricultural Society, and author of "Statistics of Oregon:"

EAST PORTLAND, April 5, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & Co.—I was afflicted with a severe attack of Chronic Rheumatism: was confined to my bed most of the time from January to July, when I used the Unk Weed, and it cured me up. A. J. DUFUR.

Certificate from Hon. Gideon Tibbetts, a member of the City Council of East Portland:

EAST PORTLAND, April 7, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & Co.—Gents: This is to inform you that I have used your "Unk Weed Remedy" for Neuralgia and Rheumatic pains, and found relief from the use of only one bottle, and can recommend it to those in need of such a remedy. Yours, GIDEON TIBBETTS.

Certificate from Mr. James Bybee, the celebrated stock grower and "King of the Oregon Turf:"

SAUVIE'S ISLAND, January 14, 1871.

To DR. A. M. LORYEA & Co—This is to acknowledge the efficacy of your "Unk Weed Remedy, or Oregon Rheumatic Cure." I was afflicted for months with a very serious attack of Inflammatory Rheumatism, and tried nearly all the so-called Rheumatic remedies without any relief for a while. I then tried your Remedy, and its use resulted in the most happy effects—a perfect cure. Truly yours, JAMES BYBEE.

Certificate from Hon. E. L. Quimby, ex-County Commissioner of Multnomah county, Oregon:

EAST PORTLAND, April 1, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & Co.—I have used the "Unk Weed Remedy," and am satisfied it is a valuable medicine. It regulates and invigorates the system. This is my experience with the remedy. Truly yours, E. L. QUIMBY.

Certificate from Hon. N. H. Lane, Pilot Commissioner of Oregon, and a member of the City Council of East Portland:

EAST PORTLAND, April 20, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & Co.—I have been afflicted for several years with "weakness in the back," and wandering Rheumatic pains, accompanied by severe constipation. By the use of one bottle of your Unk Weed Remedy, or Oregon Rheumatic Cure, I have been entirely relieved, and I cheerfully recommend it as a most valuable and efficient remedy. NAT. H. LANE.

Certificate from the well-known merchant, O. W. Weaver, Esq.:

THE DALLES, May 23, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & Co.—I have used the "Unk Weed Remedy" and can cheerfully recommend it to persons afflicted with Inflammatory Rheumatism. It cured me of that disease. My hands, wrists, ankles, indeed, all my joints were swollen and very painful. O. W. WEAVER.

Certificate from the celebrated musician, Prof. Otto Vieuxtemps:

OREGON MUSICAL INSTITUTE,
PORTLAND, May 22, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & Co.—I was attacked with severe inflammatory rheumatism, suffering great pain, and was so prostrated that I was unable to attend to my business. I used one bottle of your Unk Weed Remedy, or Oregon Rheumatic Cure, and was entirely cured by it alone. OTTO VIEUXTEMPS.

Put up in 10-ounce bottles, at $1 10 per bottle.
